GORMAN'S FRIENDS WIN.

Maryland Democrats Indorse the Senior Senator's Choice.

JOHN E HURST FOR GOVERNOR.

State Senator Crothers Gets the Nomination for Attorney General and Marion de Kaib Smith for Comptroller-Cleveland's Administration Indorsed.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 1.-When the news was definitely flashed throughout head quarters that Senator Gorman had slated the rich dry goods merchant. John E. Hurst, of this city, for gubernatorial honors, and State Senator Crothers for the extorney generalship in place of General Kyd Douglas, who had been conceded the nomination, a howl of surprise and disappointment went up from many quarters, especially from the country delegates, where the desire for reassessment is strong, and where the friends of this measure had supported the candidacy of Thomas C. Hayes, a leading exponent of reassessment.

Several of Hayes' supporters were so embittered that they declared their intention of voting for Judge Fisher, the avowed opponent of Gorman. Senator Hayes, who asserted that he had from the ortset been assured of Gorman's support. emphatically declared he would remain in the fight, and openly charged treachery. The other candidat 's, however, excepting Judge Fisher, philosophically bowed to the inevitable, and Hurst and Crothers were nominated. Marion de Kalb Smith, of Kent coun'v, received the nomination for comptroller.

Hattersly Talbott, chairman of the state convention committee, in calling the convention to order made a lively address During it one eathusiast proposed a cheer for John E. Hurss. The cheers and the hisses, however, were almost equal in volume. A cheer for Senator Gorman met with better success. Mr. Talbott predicted a big Democratic success this year. He closed by introducing Mr. Bernard Carter as temporary chairman.

Mr. Carter said he felt confident that the party would this year, as it has in the past, go forward with united front to a great victory. He called attention to the fact that this year in Maryland the Republican party was active and aggressive, and warned his hearers that harmony was necessary in the Democratic ranks.

The committee on resolutions, after an hours' deliberation, returned with a unanimous report. The resolutions approved of the Democratic platform of 1892 and of the able and patriotic administration of President Cleveland. They declare against free silver, and approve of the Wilson tariff bill, which was characterized as the best the country has known for thirty five years. The administration of Gov ernor Brown was highly complimented. The reassessment was regarded by the committee as being domanded by the peo-

The nomines, John E. Hurst, although a Gorman adherent, has also been a consistent follower of the Cleveland administration, and will doubtless poll the bulk of the party's voters.

Smallpox Scare in North Carolina.

Winston, N. C., Aug. 1-Considerable excitement prevails among people living near the North Carolina and Virginia line over the smallpox scare in Patrick county. Three cities have quarantined against the infected district, and citizens are reported to be leaving Martinsville and other places on account of the epidemic. Reports received today announce eight deaths and twenty-one cases.

A DESPERATE THIEF

Shoots at a Policeman and Throws Three Mer from a Window.

CLEVELAND, Aug 1 .- Two men made a bold attempt to rob the safe of the Barthelefuew Brewing company, on Michigan street. One of them engaged the bookkeeper in conversation, while the other quietly slipped into a rear office, and when discovered by the bookkeeper was busily at work on the safe. An alarm was im-mediately raised, and both of the thieves started down the street with a crowd behind them. A policeman soon overtook one of the men, who drew a revolver, and after a short struggle broke away with a pair of handcuffs dangling to one of his wrists. The fugitive ran a short distance and then turned and deliberately fired several shots at the policeman, who promptly returned the fire, none of the shots hitting any one.

The thief again ran, and dashed into the iams company, and up several flights of stairs. He reached the fourth floor and was cornered at a window by several of the employes. Then a fight took place. The fellow was desperate. He knocked down several of them, and threw three out of the window. There was a roof of alower building just below the window, and the men thus escaped injury. A policeman arrived at this point, and with a blow of his fist laid the fellow low. Handcuffs were quickly snapped into place, and the policementh in hustled their prisoner to the Central station. He gave the name of Joseph Rawson, and said he was 25 years old. The second thief was not

Saved Forty Lives.

SCRASTON, Pu, Ang. 1.-Fire broke out at the foot of the shatt of the Sturges mine, of the New York and Scranton Coal company, at Peckville, last night. The bravery of Edward Williams, a pump ranner, probably saved the lives of all those in the mine. After trying to extinguish the flames he ran to where forty miners of the first shift were at work in the main gangway and warned them of the danger. He had been so badly burned already that after gasping the word "Fire!" he fell unconscious. The other miners rushed in a body to the foot of the shaft, dragging Williams with them, and all were safely carried to the top. Nearly half of each gang were unconscious when they reached the surface. The fire was eventually subdued. Twenty mules were suffocated in the mine stables. Williams is still unconscious.

THE SETTLERS TO BLAME.

Bannock Indians Have Been Driven to Desperation by It justice.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.-Rav. Secretary Ryder, of the Indian department of the American Missionary association, has been in correspondence with the interior department concerning the Bannock Indian uprising. As a result of his investigation of the matter be says:

"If ever in the history of our country a protest ought to be raised by Christian people against the slaughter of the Iudians it is now. The Bannocks, under the laws of the general government, are allowed to hunt. The game laws of Wyoming forbid this. A party of Bannock's killed a lot of game in Wyoming terri-They were arrested, and while being taken to jail sixteen of the seventeen were shot down in their tracks unarmed. "Those of us who know of the brutal character of many of the white men who live in this western territory, and their intense hostility to the Indians have a grave suspicion that this was planned in order to kill the Indians. General Miles has given his testimony that the Bannocks are among the most peaceful and on the whole one of the best tribes on the prairie

"If the slavers of Indians were promptly arrested, and the Bannocks know that they will be impartially tried and severely punished if found guilty, the uprising will at once be at an end.

Secretary Ryder says he has received assurances from the department of the interior that his opinion is correct as to the lawless outrage upon the Indians, and that no means will be spared to bring the guilty parties to justice.

DROWNED BY A CLOUDBURST. Several Lives Lost and Much Property

Destroyed in Columndo. CEIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 1.-A freight train on the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad was caught in a landslide and derailed near Adalaide. A succession of cloudbursts occurred at the head of Eight Mile creek, about twelve or fifteen miles south of Adalaide. Engineer Ben Gove and Fireman Maurice Lyons saw the water coming down the creek. Lyons managed to escape by climbing up the side of the mountain. Engineer Gove and Brakemen Dick Dolan and Frank Caldwell were drowned, as was C. C. Hirchcock, night operator at Florence.

The flood struck the town of Adalaide, doing great damage. The hotel there was completely demolished, and the owners. Mr. Tracey and Mrs. Carr, were both drowned, as was the cook, name unknown. Six persons are known to have been drowned at Adalaids and two others are reported missing. The railroads for ten miles near Wilbur have been washed

No definite information was obtainable up to a late hour, but it is known much damage has been done in the path of the storm. It is estimated to be at least $100,-More destruction is reported at Camp

Much of the track and many railroad bridges were washed away, and it will probably be several days before the damage can be repaired sufficiently for trains to pass through. Ranchmen also suffered severe losses.

Terrific Explosion at Lorain, O.

LORAIN, O , Aug. 1 .- A terrific explosion took pince in the blacks with department of the Johnson steel plant. Gas accumulated in a forge, owing to an impact of cinders, which united with the hot air blast from the blower, causing an explosion that shook the entire plant. Four men were badly injured. A hage nail was driven into the abdoman of one of the blacksmiths, terring out a portion of his entrails. He cannot recover. The injurad are: George Wilcott, neck and shoulders burned and lacerated; Fred Eichler, nail driven into stomach; S. W. Douglass, severely burned; Robert Hall, arm mangled.

Death of Bishop Howe.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. Aug. 1.—The Right Rev. M. A. DeWolfe Hawe, Protestant Episcopal bishop of central Pennsylvania. died at his summer home in Bristol vesterday, aged 86. Rishop Howe's illness had lasted but a week. He had a strong local attachment for Bristol, the place of his nativity, and in late years he invariably spent each summer there Bishop Howe was married three times, his third wife surviving him. He leaves a number of sons and daughters. His assistant, Dr. N S. Rollson, will succeed to the bishopric.

The Arkansas Convict Who Will Appear Against Holmes.

HOLMES' DOINGS AT LITTLE POOK.

He Attempted to Bui'd a Charnel House in that City, but Was Prevented by the Authorities-The Accused Declares That Miss Cigrand Is in a Convent.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1 .- There is now little doubt that the Chicago police will convict H. H. Holmes, alias Mudgett, alias Pratt, alias Gordon, now in the Philadelphia jail, of the murder of at least seven persons. They know the name of the man who can hang Holmes by giving his testimony, and that man is in their power. This man is Allen, with several aliases, now in jail at Little Ruck, Ark., for horsestealing.
Allen is as close to Holmes through all his murder plots as Jauitor Quinlan, and he is ready to tell all he knows. This includes the pointing out of the resting place of the Williams sisters, whom he himself assisted in secreting after they were murdered. He will tell how they were murdered and exactly how all their bodies were handled. He will also give full and explicit information concerning the murder of Pietzel and his two children, and of Mrs. Julia Connors and her daughter Pearl.

In short, this man is the only other living person aside from Quinlan who can tell the story of the murders in the charnel house at Sixty-third and Wallace streets. Aside from Quinlan he is the only man who can tell of Holmes' crimes in a way that will bring forth evidences of Holmes' guilt. The mention of his name by the police made Janitor Quinlan turn pale and refuse to talk further, and a confession from Quinlan is almost as sured, but will come too late, as Allen is to be the state's witness.

It has been arranged to request his pardon from the governor of Arkansas if he will give his testimony with the understanding that he will not be prosecuted in Illinois for complicity in Holmes' frauds and crimes.

Another link in the chain binding Quin lan to the alleged crimes of Holmes was forged yesterday by an admission made by Quinlan when questioned by Chief of Police Badenoch. He said he was hired by a man named Allen to go to Fort Worth, Tex. Quinlan had previously claimed that he had no knowledge of any crimes committed by Holmes, although he had admitted that in Fort Worth he met and knew a man called "Mascot." Now that Allen and "Mascot" are practically proven to be one and the same man Quinlan's contradictory stories have placed him in a still worse light with the

Experiments were made yesterday with the liquid found in the bottom of the vat in the cellar of Holmes' house, and it was found that whenever mixed with benzine or kerosene oil it would emit a vapor so deadly that no human being could live in it. Whether or not Holmes used the vapor for suffocating his victims is not known, but the police are inclined to favor such a

Miss Jennie Thompson, known also as Mrs. Evelyn Stewart, is being 100 by the Englewood police officers. She was employed by Holmes as a stenographer up to a short time before he left Chicago. Her statement is wanted in regard to what she saw and heard in the "castle" while she worked there.

HOLMES AT FORT WORTH.

Tried to Build a Charnel House, but the Authorities Prevented.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 1.-William Cappa, who is now in Chicago on the Holmes case, belongs to the firm of Cappa & Cauley, of this city, who some time ago entered suit against the present holders of property owned by the Williams sisters. The suit is brought at the instance of the heirs of the girls, and it is claimed that the deeds were forged by Holmes. Allen, alias Hatch, the Arkansas convict, who is so anxious to tell his connection with the murders, was at one time in the employ of Holmes in this city. Allen went by the name of Mascot in this cuty, and it is be-Heved here that he can tell a great deal about Holmes and his transactions if he wants to. Allen was an ex-convict from the prison at Joliet.

While Holmes, or Pratt, as he was known here, was living in this city he started to put up a large building. It was objected to on the ground that it was a fire trap and the authorities forced him to remode it somewhat. In view of the recent developments in Chicago the authorities have made an investigation of the building, which leaves no room for doubt that Holmes had planned it for a death trap. One room at the top of the house has twelve exits by which a person can escape, while an enclosed chute runs down to the basement, in which a body could be transferred without any one being the wiser. In this basement a large archway had been built over the sewer in such a way that he could easily put in a trap door opening into the sewer. Under the floor of the house was found a large pit, the intended use of which can only be conjectured. Holmes probably intended this building to be used as he afterwards used his house in Chicago.

Says Miss Cigrand Is in a Convent. PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.-H. H. Holmes was seen in his cell by a reporter, and talked freely about the charges made against him, especially those relating to Emily Cigrand. He admitted that he had betrayed the girl in Chicago, and that she had afterwards told this fact to a priest, who insisted that a marriage ceremony be performed. Holmes says that he took her to an obscure place in Minnesota, and married her under an assumed name, the ceremony being fraudulent. Pat Quinlan, he declared, knew of Helines' relations with the girl, having found her in his room one night. In May, 1892, the

THE STRIKE ABATING.

Two Thousand More New York Tailors Resume on Their Own Terms. NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The principal feature yesterday in the tailors' strike situation was the issuing of bonded agreements to contractors. Of these 110, representing over eighty shops, furnished the required security, and 2,000 more strikers resumed work this morning. The strike though somewhat abated, is still on, and the strikers declare that they will fight until the contractors have all fallen in line and acknowledged their defeat by signing the new agreement.

About a hundred cloakmakers from the factory of H. Gerschel & Son quit work yesterday because the proprietors charged the workers with using cotton instead of silk thread in the making of garments. This the cloakmakers denied, and made a demand for fifty cents a day in the scale of wages, which was refused, and a strike immediately followed. The strikers were received with shouts of applause when they presented themselves at the general headquarters at Walhalla hall.

The cutters in a great number of the principal establishments on Broadway have been laid off, owing to the absence of workers to complete the garments.

Meyer Schoenfeld, the strike leader, said that the tangle would not be straightened out for at least ten day more, as some of the belligerent contractors would have to be brought to their knees and forced to recognize the power of the Brotherhood of

It is expected that the major portion of the strikers will be working before the end of the week.

DEFENDER'S VICTORIES.

Another Added to Her List of Aquatic Triumphs.

BEATS VIGILANT AND VOLUNTEER.

The Race Run with All Sail Spread, and the New Yacht Gained at Every Point Superiority of the Fin Keel Over the Centerboard Demonstrated.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 1.-The Defender

beat the Vigilant in the run of forty-two miles from New London to this point, and beat her so badly that the latter's friends must now admit that the new boat is better than the old. How much better cannot be stated, as no reasonable comparison of the champion of 1893 and the Defender of 1895 can be made, only by the handful of people who know about what the Defender will give to the Vigilant in the matter of time allowance. An Assoclated Press reporter was told by a yachtsman who is in a position to know that the Defender should allow the Vigilant four minutes, or thereabouts, in a forty mile race. If this is true the Defender did all that could have been asked of her, beating the Vigilant by at least eight minutes Just at the start the Vigilant's mainsail was split, but the accident had no appreciable effect on the result of the race. The tear was low down, near the foot of the sail, and the yacht was going with freedom. The wind was abeam, and gave the two men who were sent out on the boom to make the necessary patch no difficulty at all.

The weather was in favor of the Vigilant all the way through. On leaving New London it was more than free wind It was brisk, but the big fellows were able to carry all sail, including club topsails, and the water was smooth enough to suit the Vigilant in her very best days.

From start to finish the Defender gained on the Vigilant, and came home so far ahead that the doubting Thomases, who were asking each other, referring to the America's cup races, "Will she do?" are now saying at least, "Well, she's the best boat we ever had," and that confession from these people is to be thought over more than once. It means that the splendid win of the keel boat shows that she is improving right along in form.

If the advancement continues at the ratio displayed between the sail of Tuesday and that of yesterday the Vigilant will be nowhere in today's race. It was almost a run with spinnakers yesterday, and yet the Defender gained at every point. The finish showed the new beat to be over twelve minutes to the good on actual time.

On leaving New London the yachts sailed down with a beam wind to the race. The Defender had had her steering gear patched up during the night, and her sailors were smart enough to get her over the starting line over a minute ahead of the Vigilant. The Volunteer was pretty quick, and went away five seconds after the Vigilant. The Jubilee was there, but for some reason or other should not start with the others, and this fact lessened the interest in the whole proceeding, as everybody wanted to know what General Paine's vessel could do with the champion of 1833 and the new fin keel yacht. The boats which did stars had race. There was a fine breeze, which was always fair. There were a good many people over at Fort Adams to see the finish. and all were court-ously received by Lieutenant Sampson, the officer of the day.

When the Defender hove in sight behind the hills at Castle Point she was speedily picked out by name, her almost straight up and down gaff making her easy to be distinguished. Soon the Vigilant's lofty club topsail was seen over the point. There was a good two miles between her and the Defender.

The result of yesterday's race shows that the fight for the cap on the American side will be made by either Defender or Vigilant. The Jubilee, by her refusal to start, indicates that she does not want to go into a race when there is a blow, and a victory ir such weather can not be of great value just now, for the chances are eight to one that the cup races will be sailed in light weather, and that is the game the Valkyrm III was built for. The following table shows the time at start and finish:

Volunteer, 11:22:00

THE PRESIDENT SETS THE PACE AS AN ANGLER FOR TROUT.

Public Men Generally Love to Cast the Fly-Good Fishing Grounds In Various Sections of the Country-The Knowing

Not all the presidents of the United States have been fishermen, but it has been some years now since the White House has been occupied by a man who did not delight to cast the fly. Grover Cleveland is indeed a mighty skillful angler, and many a political opponent there is no doubt who reads with interest every spring of the first trout caught

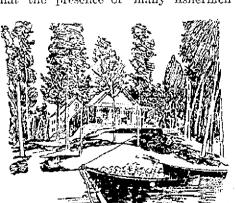

MR. CLEVELAND AND HIS TROUT. by the man who has been so big a factor in this nation's government ever since

Nowadays Mr. Cleveland fishes for the speckled beauties with a fly only, and the handsome specimen that was taken from the water the other day by the chief executive was caught with the most modern of tackles. Time was, however, when Grover was a country boy, that, like all the rest of us, he did his trout fishing with a worm for bait. Perhaps he used an ordinary "fish line" and a pole cut in the woods, and maybe he spit on the worm after its impalement in order to increase its attractiveness to the hoped for victim. Possibly his line was a horsehair, skillfully twisted with two quills, and he may have used aniseed oil to attract the fish, but whichever method he used there is little doubt that he enjoyed trout fishing as heartily in the days when he made use of the humble worm as now, when he is an expert fly caster.

It may not be so, but it must seem to the general reader that the men who engage in public affairs are more generally devoted to angling than are those of any other class. Certainly a larger proportion of those whose names are often seen in print than of the ordinary run of men make fishing a regular amusement, so to speak, though this may not be because public men and men of affairs are of necessity anglers. It is more likely due to the fact that men who have won enough prominence to be often mentioned in type must have also reached a degree of financial independence that makes it possible to spend the timewhich you will remember is money—for fishing. At any rate, prominent men like to fish and do fish, and we are all privileged to read of the fun they have, whether we ourselves can afford to fish

United States Senator and ex-Secre-tary Redfield Proctor of Vermont is one of the most devoted fishermen in the country, and at the very moment you are reading this he is probably fly casting for trout in a noted little pond on the top of Pico, one of the Green mountains, away back from everywhere and accessible only by a difficult 12 mile drive over hilly roads from Rutland. The senator has recently purchased this pond and erected on its border a small clubhouse, and very latest fishing news included an item that Senator Proctor proposed shortly to take his brother senators, Platt and Aldrich, to his private fishing grounds, where all three would undoubtedly enjoy much royal sport for a few days. Senator Proctor has two smaller ponds, back of the clubhouse, from which he occasionally stocks up the main pond, and those who have been favored with invitations from the senatorial owner in years past tell most entertaining tales of the eagerness of the fish in these ponds to be caught. A take of 600 by three men in five hours is one of the mildest of these stories. Vermont is a regular paradise for trout fishermen. The streams of the Green mountain region fairly swarm with the beautiful fish.

New Hampshire also is a fine state for the trout fisherman, and the authorities of that commonwealth have been and are doing all in their power to keep up its present reputation, for they realize that the presence of many fishermen

FISHING COTTAGE ON RANGELEY LAKE. upon the banks of its lakes and streams means that many dollars will be left within its borders. Away up in the northern end of the state is the chain of Connecticut lakes, and these beautiful sheets contain millions of fish. Lake trout and salmon are to be found in the waters of New Hampshire as well as brook trout, and every one of the crystalline bodies of water bearing such names as Penacook and Winnepesaukee. the streams of the Pemigewasset and

TIME TO GO FISHING. | similarly named vales, and many little pools, such as Hot Hole and the like, are at this moment being whipped most vigorously and successfully.

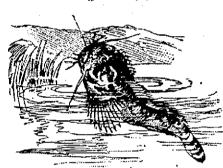

Of course the fishing of New England is not confined to Vermont and New Hampshire. Maine is one of the most famous of fishermen's states, and the Rangeley lakes are among the most famous of fishermen's lakes. He who casts his flies on the lakes of Maine must needs possess an agile tongue and an india rubber jaw if he would tell his friends where he has been a-fishing, for he must be able to correctly pronounce such combinations of letters as Cupsuptic and Mooselookmegantic, to say nothing of Seabago, Memphremagog and Pushac. Muskellunge and bass and perch as well as brook and lake trout and salmon are to be found in some of the Maine waters, and no doubt pickerel, pike and other varieties, though the professional writers of Maine angling do not deign to say anything about such plebeian fish as those last named. All through the New England states mentioned the greatest pains have been taken to make good fishing a permanency, and with great success, but in the minds of some their waters are not such desirable fishing grounds as those in which black bass are the chief fish. New Jersey and New York furnish excellent bass fishing, as well as some trout fishing that is not to be sneezed at by any means, and the man who has hooked the gamy bass from the pellucid depths of Hoparcong and Greenwood lakes in Jersey and trout in the Adirondacks is as partial to his favorite fishing places as are those who angle in New England. There is fine sport to be had, too, in the St. Lawrence, and all along the chain of the great lakes from the Thousand islands to Duluth.

Pennsylvania is a fisherman's heaven, too, as every one knows, and, in fact, there is good fishing in every state and territory in the Union, to say nothing cf. Canada, some of whose lakes and streams are almost overflowing with finny beauties. At this time of the year, when the open season is begun or about to begin everywhere, the number of happy fishermen who are taking prizes from the streams and lakes must be very large. You and I, reader, wish them all every success and sufficient invention to tell good stories of their achievements whether they catch many fish or not, since more anglers' reputations undoubtedly depend on well conceived, well related yarns than on actual strings of fish.

The late Seth Green, who was called the Father of the Fishes because of his efforts, which were successful, in the direction of scientific fish culture, used to say that of all fish native to the fresh waters of America none was of better flavor than the generally despised bulkhead, which, he said, if as scarce as the brook trout, would bring as good prices. Mr. Green was a close student of the ways of fishes and once told the writer that he had no doubt that some species knew how to communicate ideas-in other words, to talk after their own fashion, though they cannot make sounds. He held that bullheads were far more intelligent in the care of their young than most fish. He said that after mafing the female of this species digs a hole in the side of the bank or in the bottom of the pond and then excavates a sort of cave about 2 feet across and 6 or 7 inches deep. After the spawn is deposited the water is fauned and the dirt so kept from the spawn. The eggs hatch about five days after they are laid. When the fry are hatched out, they lie around a few days until they are able to follow the mother. She then cares for them and teaches them to feed, just as a hen teaches her chicks, and it takes three or four weeks for the young bullheads to learn to provide for themselves. As soon as they have learned this lesson the parent fish drives the young from her. Mr. Green said that the black bass was the only other fish that he knew of which so protected its young, and he declared that, although the story was indeed a fish story, it was a true one.

Writing of bullheads, by the way, reminds me of a bullhead story I heard once that might do well to wind this article up with. It does not come from so unimpeachable a source, however, as Seth Green. It originated in Mayville, Wis. Near that place there was, in $860, a lake which is now Horicon marsh. The winter of that year was very cold, and the ice froze two feet thick and solid, without a single hole or break through which the fish in the lake could get any air. Consequently the fish-all bullheads-in order not to be smothered to death, swam up the channel of the Rock river to the Kekoskee dam, where there was an air hole. So numerous were the fish that they filled the channel completely, and when the air hole was reached those in the lead were crowded out upon the ice in great numbers by those in the rear. 'Great numbers', is a faint way of stating the facts as related to my informant. There was a perfect geyser of bullheads, and it lasted for a day. There were so many of them that they sold for 25 cents a wagon load, and the people of the vicinity lived on the fish for weeks and had to use several hundred loads for

You may doubt this much of the story, and therefore I will not relate the remainder. If you ever go to Mayville and ask about the bullheads of Kekoskee and the expressman, named Brush, who fed his hogs and his horses on them for two months, you will get the whole yarn, and then you will see that I have mly begon it. Genllemen:—Replying to yours of the 1st, would say that I have used tobacco for 46 years, and of late have consumed a 10-cent plug a day, besides smoking considerably. I commenced to use tobacco when I was only 11 years old, and have naver been acle to give up the habit until I took Narcoti Cure, although I have tried other so called remedies without effect. After using your remedy four days, all "hankering," for chewing disappeared, end in four days more smoking became unpleasant. I have no further desire for the weed, and experienced no had felfects whatever. I am gaining in fiesh, and feel better than I have for a long time. To all who wish to be free from the tobacco habit I would say, use Narcoti Cure.

Yours truly, W. K. WHITE.

TSURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1895,

In Alabama, the Republicans and Populists have already effected a fusion, and similar deals are being negotiated in other Southern States. The Republican party, despite its high professions, is always ready to combine with any rag-tag and bob-tall in politics that can muster a few votes.

The Supreme Court of California has decided that "poker playing for money, though objectionable in fact, is in the eyes of the law as innocent as chess or any game played for recrea tion, and its votaries and the places where it is played are not criminal." The court is probably right as to the law, but law or no law, such a decision would never have been made by a court in any Eastern State."

"Little Lexow," in a long letter to the World announces himself in favor of Gov. Morton for President, "because in the long and severe struggle of the last session the Governor strongly and consistently supported those who were pushing reform measures through the Legislature." Cant has become such a second nature to Lexaw that he is no longer honest with himself. Had he told the truth he would have said that he is for Morton because Platt is for Morton, for just now he is succeing whenever Mr. Platt takes souff, because he wants a renomination and cannot get it unless he stands in with Platt.

The "sea serpent" washed ashore on Blackwell's Island, Tuesday night, was not a marine monster after all. It seems that the ship Macduff from India, which is lying at Upper Quarantine, had as part of its cargo a number of snakes of various kinds, intended for museums and menageries. One of them, a large python, escaped from its cage and coiled itself about some steam pipes, and was so badly burned that it died and its body was thrown overboard and carried up the East River by the tide to the shores of Blackwell's Island. The stories printed in some of the papers of the struggles of the monster when captured by the night watch on the island were pure inventions, but they sank into insignificance compared with the "fake" of one paper, which printed a picture of the "sea serpent," with two sets of fins or paddles, averring that it was from a ske'ch of the monster made by its special artist.

Gov. Morton, yesterday, announceed the appointment of a Board of Managers for the Long Island State Hospital, the name bestowed on the Kings County Insane Asylum since The couple will go to Europe. it has passed under State control. The one and two year terms are given to women, Miss Oornelia King, of Jamaics, and Mrs. J. S. T. Stranahan, of Broo lyn. The three-year term is given to a Demecrat and the four, five, six and seven-year terms to Republicans of the most ultra from Jackson's Hols. type. Heretofore, politics has played but little part in the control of the State's charitable institutions and in the selection of managers of the State hospitals, Democratic governors considered fitness, not political views. By giving but one Democrat a place on the Board of Managers of the Long Island State Hospital, Gov. Morton seems to have determined on a new policy and as one of the results of the "reform" craze that possessed the people, last fall, we may expect to see the State hospitals Republicanized, which is only another way of saying that the condition of of the unfortunate ir mates will be made worse than it is.

Partly Able to Identify Him.

Mr. Chugwater went to one of the banks the other day to make a deposit. While he was filling out a blank at one of the counters provided for that purpose a large, beefy man with a draft in his hand stepped alongside, seized a pen and proceeded to indorse the draft. Finding Mr. Chugwater in his way, he unceremonicusly elbowed him to one side, scrawled his name hastily on the back of the draft and stepped up to one of the windows.

"I'd like to get this cashed," he said. The paying teller examined the paper looked at the large, beefy man and replied: "I don't know you. sir."

"My name is Tuggins. I've done business at this bank off and on for more than "I don't doubt that, but I don't happen to know you, and you'll have to get somebody to identify you.' Mr. Tuggins looked round. There was nobody in sight except Mr. Chugwater, who stood directly behind him awaiting his turn. "You've seen me here occasionally, haven't you?" he said. "I know you very well by sight. My name is Tuggins. You can identify me, can't you?"

"Oh, yes." replied Mr. Chugwater cheerfully. "I can identify you, sir. I can identify you as the man that shoved me away from that table just now, sir, but I don't know your name, sir, and I don't want to know it, sir. Will you have the kindness to get out of my way?"

Mr. Chugwater pushed him aside and stepped to the window, and Mr. Tuggins went outside to find an acquaintance and to cool off .- Chicago Tribune.

MILLER'S LAST LOAD OF HAY. (With all necessary applogles to the author (f Glawatha) Through the long and hot July days In his bay field worked Dave Miller, Wah-No Ko Ka-Pok-Kis Miller, Ruler of the mighty North End.

I have told you of his troubles. Of his trials with "k-tchy" weather, Of the gathering of the servents By the oak tree in his meadow: And you know how Davy struggled To get in his hay and out crops That he migut keep his agreement With the rulers of the Council, (Council rightly called the Common.) And do street work "after having." Move an old established highway, Move it over to the westward, Bring it out beyond h's stab e On the shores of Miller's frog pond, Almost opposite his crchard

It was on the first of August. Cold and chill as bleak November. That Dave Miller finished naying, Gathered in his buils-eye daisses And his timothy and red-top, From his meadow land and upland.
And to honor this occasion He arranged a celebration. From the Dago on the corner. Dealer in fresh roasted peanuts, Davy Miller bought a dime's worth, And from out a North End tivern Brought he that most harmless tipple B'rch beer, smelling like the forest Nothing stronger bought Dave Miller, Leader of the North End Mission, Foe of beer and flery waters.

To his peanuts and his birch been Davy Miller asked the Council, Asked also his friend, the Mayor, And the Argus hay field writer.

Tis a rule with Common Councils And with G. O. P.-ish Mayors, Not to miss a thing that's going Though it's only birch and peanuts. So to Davy Miller's walked they For the wicked constitution Has decreed that city's rulers Cannot have street railroad passes. Out in Davy Miller's meadow Stood the last load of his hay crop, Loaded on his creaking wagon And he said unto the Council: "Get up on the loaded wagon, On the load of fragrant hay." And the foolish Common Council Heedless of their high positions Did as Davy[Miller; bade them,-With much pulling and much pushing Got upon the loaded wagon, Sat down on the fragrant hay.

But the wilylboss, the Mayor, Would not climb upon the wag on, But instead said to Dave Miller: "I am boss of many minions I will boss this ream of oxen. Drive them out of this 'ere meldow To the hay stack or the hay mow." And Dave Miller weakly yielding Gave his good unto the Mayor. To His Honor, the ox-puncher. But Dave Miller's stubborn oxen Quick to know the change of drivers Paid no heed to Stansb'ry's orders, Quickly geed when he said haw. And the Mayor lost his temper, Smote them with the goad and lash Till the oxen fleeing from him, Heeding not his shouts of "whoa," Ran across Dave Miller's meadow And the load of hay troped over And the Council went to grass.

one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every bundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor visits Middletown one day each month. Will be at 21 Broom street, Port Jervis, Wednesday, August 7th. Office hours from 10:39 a. m. to 5 p. m.

forward to stroke the big, black head, but the creature took no notice of any one of them, only stood quite still, piercing through the little group with those sad, eager, human eyes of his. "Poor fellow! Poor dog!" they said. The children stood a little from him with grave, touched faces. They were gazing so carne-dy at him that they did not see their father, who had come down to tile quay—as he came often— to give a momentary eye to his young monkeys and see that they were not drowning themselves or getting into any other hopeless mischief, and who was standing now behind them and had been listening while the master told his tale. They only knew he was there when they suddenly heard his voice. What are you going to do with him? Will you part with him? 'he called out to the master. Then the lads turned round, with a little cry. "Oh, father!" they exclaimed, and their hearts leaped to them would. to their months. They were afraid to utter another word. They stood with their hps parted with eagerness as they waited for the master's answer.

"Well, sir, I'm open to an offer for him," the man said, after a moment's silence, and then the children burst into shours of delight.

Ten minutes afterward they were walking home with the beast between them. They chattered away as they went of all that they would do with him, what they should call him, how he should go everywhere with them, and how many things they would teach him. They held him by the car and clapped his back and gamboled round him. Who can tell what his thoughts were all the time? Who could tell them, as he walked on with those dumb, wondering, patient eyes of his, with the new voices in his ear, and all the old world and the old life gone from him like a dream?

"We brought him home with us in a week or two, my friend said to me (we had been walking up and down the lawn while heartald mo the lattle story). and the boys soon grew very foud of him, but it is a curious thing that during all these five years he has been with as now he has never grown more than half at home here. I think he has been as happy with us as he would have been anywhere, and a more docile, patient, kindly natured beast than he is you never knew, but yet he has always to me been like a dog living with a broken heart. I don't believe for my part that he has ever forgotten that old master of his, wheever he may have been, for a day or an hour since he lost him. Look at him now. Look what a fine, human pathos there is about that the ric, silent face of his. Depend upon it, he is think-ing of the old story at this moment, puzzling it all out again, remembering, perhaps, how he saw the boat go down and heard his master's last cry, if, indeed, it was his last. Perhaps he may doubt even yet whether it was. I sometimes think he has still at moments a kind of forling hope that the lost daywill come back again and the lost eyes look into his once more "

THE BANE OF HUMAN LIFE,

Driven Out of the System by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I was a great sufferer from a most persistent of blood disease, none of the various medicines I took being of any help whatever. Hoping that change of chinate would benefit me, I went to Cuba, to Florida, and then to Saratoga Springs, where I remained some time drinking the waters. But all was no use. At last, being advised by several friends to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, I began taking it, and very soon favorable results were manifest. To day I consider myself a perfectly healthy man, with a good appetite and not the least trace of my former complaint. To all my friends, and especially young men like myself. I recommend Ayer's Sursaparilla, it in need of a perfectly reliable blood-purifier."—Jose A. Esconar, proprietor Hotel Victoria, Key West, Fla: resroence, 352 W. 16th St., New York.

It was not much of a story, yet it was

ing the summer at a little seaside town on the north coast of France. It was a quiet and rather dull place, except that its harbor was always lively with the coming and going of fisher boats and collier brigs and such like craft, the watching of which was quite an endless delight to the children, who, indeed, spent every moment they could steal from morning to night down at the quay, staring with all their might, and as often as they could doing more than

Of course they never thought of anything-for they were very small creatures-but of the fun that it was to see the leaping and rolling water, and of the delight of being sent scampering up the beach when some bigger wave than all the rest would run after them as it broke upon the sands, as if it were resolved to catch them and wet their stockings and shoes at least, let their little legs fly as fast as they would. "It must be rough at sea," their father and mother used to say sometimes in their hearing, especially during one week when the north wind blew with a strange, wild rearing and down about the pier the fishermen stood looking through their glasses out to sea, anxiously shaking their heads now and then, but Willie and Charlie only grew mer rier as the wind blew stronger. They thought that to be out upon the beach when they could not keep their footing, and when the very air was white with

And then Willie, who was the youn-

with just wind enough to make a little curl upon the wave, and to fill the sails as the fisher boats put out, there were vessels coming in this morning as well as having the harbor. Several brigs that had I can expected for some days, and that the storm had delayed, got into port today But there was one especially that among all the rest attracted the boys' attention. It was an English Jolher, standing on whose deck, as sho came near, they saw a great, black, noble Newfoundland deg. The creature was standing up in his four fect, taking no notice of any one, but slowly moved his head from side to side, as if he were camly looking for something that he could not find-standing quite still, so passive that even when the boat touched the quay, and people came up and -roked and roke to him, he marely let

The late Mr. Alexander, the architect of Rochester bridge, was under cross exammation in a special jury case at Maidstone by Sergeant Garrow, who wished to detract from the weight of his testimony. and who, after asking him what was his name, proceeded thus, "You are a builder, I believe?" "No, sir, I am not a builder; I am an architect." "Ah! Well, architect or builder, builder or architect, they are much the same. I suppose:" "I beg your pardon, sir, I cannot admit that. I consider them to be totally different." "Oh, indeed! Perhaps you will state wherein this great difference consists?" "An architect, sir, prepares the plans, conceives the design, draws out the specification-in short, supplies the mind. The builder is merely the bricklayer or the carpenter the builder, in fact, is the machine; the architect the power that puts the machine together and sets it going." "Oh, very well, Mr. Architect, that will do, and now, after your very ingenious distinction without a difference, perhaps you can inform the court who was the architect of the Tower of Babel?" "The Tower of Babel, sir!" replied the witness. "There was no architect, and hence the confusion!"-San Francisco Argonaut.

PROPOSED STRAIGHTENING OF EAST MAIN STREET.

Boneficiaries Are William, But Other Property Owners Are Not, and Some Will Resist It-Objections to Sacrificing Shade Trees.

The statement in the Press, last evening, that property owners on East Main street favored the prcposed straightening and widening to thirty-two or thirty feet, was not exactly correct. Only those whose properties will be benefitted and who will lose nothing favor the plan. Supervisor Wood, who is expected to give four feet from the front of his lot and lose valuable trees, says he will not willingly do so, and if the city wants the property it, or those who expect to be benefitted, must pay for it. The lessee and guests at the Moffat are also indignant at the proposition to take several feet from that property and sacrifice several fine shade trees, and have sent their protest to the owners of the property, who reside out of town. Mayor Stansbury's disposition to cut down shade trees that it has required many years to grow is severely criticised.

There is no doubt that Middletown's greatest beauty is its rows of beautiful shade trees on many of the streets, and he who would destroy them is no friend of Middletown.

WINNERS OF CONSOLATION PRIZES Middletowners Who Got a Dollar for Solving a Puzzle.

Among the winners of one dollar consolation prizes in the New York Morning Journal's great figure problem, announced this morning, are the following from Middletown.

Walter Bowne, State Homeopathic Hospital, annex 1, third hall; William C. Dolar, 31 West Main street;

Edward Mills, 306 North street. The problem consisted of placing the figures in such a way that when 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 were read either up the column, or across the column, or diagonally down the column the net result should be 35

ABANDONING ANIMALS.

It Is an Offense to Which the Law Attaches HeavyPenalties.

To abandon an animal of any kind ls under the laws of this State a misdemeanor, punishable by six months imprisonment and $50 fine.

The size or value of the animal abandoned does not affect either the degree of the crime or the penalty, and it is as great an offense to leave a cat or dog along the highway or on comebody else's premises as to abandon a horse or a cow. People who have superfluous domestic animals about their premises, which they de aire to get rid of but are too tender hearted to chloroform, should bear the fact in mind and govern themselves accordingly.

Those who miss the 12 o'clock car must either Grace Church Sunday School Picnic. walk or wait until nearly 1 o'clock, and as it isn't every person in store between care, it should not be at Park. moon, when the regular patrons of the road want to use the cars. The old schedule of a car at 12, another at 12:15 and another at 12:30 would be hard to improve upon. A li tle more regularity when people go to work in the morning and quit in the evening would also be appreciated by the public.

IN COMPACTOR FOR

ALTOCETHER TOO SUGGESTIVE.

Why an Old Rounder Couldn't Read To day's New York Papers.

An old rounder, who had made a night of it, turned up at his accustomed haunt, this morning, for his usual "eye-opener" and the perusal of the daily papers, which are an attractive feature of the cafe.

One after the other of the great dailies were cast aside, and finally the o. r. approached the bar with trembling hands and shattered

"What's the matter?" asked his friend, the barkeeper. "I can't read the bloomin' papers this morning," he replied.

"Why not," asked his friend, as he reached under the bar for the favorite bottle. ' Because every one of them except the Tribune has its first page covered with pictures of snakes and sea serpents, and it's too dauged suggestive, don't you know."

"THE PALM" CHANGES HANDS. Bought by William R. Rowley-Now in Possession.

Mr. William R. Bowley, who for more than line years has been the clerk for Mr. Jacob Gunther in his North street cafe, has purchased "The Palm," on West Main street, and took possession to-day.

"The Palm" was opened about eighteen months ago by T. J. Mc-Manus, who after a year's successful business sold it to Mr. William D. Oakes. The latter in turn has disposed of it as above.

Mr. Rowley is an obliging, popular roung man, and should succeed in his new venture.

Reward for an Escaped Prisoner.

A reward of $250 is offered for the capture of George McAdams, of near Rockland, who was sent to Auburn prison last fall for five years, and who recently escaped from the prison. The crime for which Mc-Adams was sentenced was shooting a neighbor named Lancaster for supposed criminal intimacy with his (McAdame') wife. The escaped prisoner is described as a shrewd, cunning fellow.

Delaware Peaches in Market.

The Warner Fruit Co., this morning, received a consignment of Delaware peaches, the first shipment to this city this year. While it is apparent that they have felt the effects of dry weather, they are of very fine flavor. Heretofore only Georgia peaches were to be found in market, and while these were much better tran usual, the flavor did not equal that of the Delaware fruit.

GENERAL TERM DECISIONS.

A Note Given for Wayes is a Preferred Clatiu-A Re-Argument of the Romaine Case brdered,

The General Term of the Supreme Court has handed down a decision in the case of Laura C. Aber, of Hainesville, N. J., vs. W. E. Scott and A. T. Brown, as assignees of W. A. Drake, of Port Jervis.

Mrs. Aber presented a note for $1,400, given by Drake for domes ic services. The assignees refused to consider it as a preferred claim for wages. Suit was brought before Judge Beattie, who declined to allow the note as a preferred claim

The General Term has reversed Judge Beattle's decision, and the note and interest becomes a preferred claim.

The General Term was unable to arrive at a decision in the appeal of Frances J. Romaine, of Port Jervis, vs. Mrs. Annie Decker, of Post Jervie, for damages for alienation of her husband's affections, and has ordered a re-argument at the September term. The appeal is from the order of Judge Brown dismissing the complaint.

For more than a hundred years the Shakers have been studying the remedial properties of plants. They have made many discoveries, but their greatest achievement was made last year. It is a cordial that contains aiready digested food and is a digester of food. It is effective in removing distress after eating, and creates an appetite for more food so that eating becomes a pleasure. Pale, thin people become plump and healthy under its use. It arrests the wasting of consumption.

There never has been such a step forward in the cure of indigestion as this Shaker Cordial. Your druggist will be glad to give you a little book descriptive of the product.
